As the usual cry by the Clinton gang was "It's Time to move on" that time has been reached in the Mircosoft case.

No one will become a winner if this settlement continues to drag on and on.

As I see the settlement before the court neither side is really happy with the settlement. To me that indicates the settlement is as fair as it will get.

It is time to turn our efforts to something constructive and stop wasting tax payer money on something that does not have a right answer.
